

InfoCepts Real-Time Analytics

Increase decision making speed, accuracy and effectiveness

Real-Time Analytics allows you to increase decision accuracy, and drive cost efficiencies by capitalizing on opportunities as they occur, instead of after the fact. Deriving real-time value from data requires provisioning of both structured and unstructured data sets—quickly, securely, and cost effectively—with minimal IT support. When coupled with self-service capabilities, real-time Analytics is a key driver in transforming business outcomes.

InfoCepts provides Cloud & On-Prem data-provisioning solutions to ingest large volumes of data at high velocity in both batch- and stream-processing modes, at a fraction of traditional costs. Leveraging a repeatable, reliable, and low-touch maintenance approach, you will empower users and customers to take actions in real time.

InfoCepts Real-Time Analytics leverages accelerators, reusable templates, and specialised teams to provide cost effective, scalable, and accelerated implementation of real-time data analytics capabilities.

“The InfoCepts Real Time Data Streamer has become a central part of our IT strategy for collecting data within the organization. It has changed our systems approach from a “once-a-day batch” mentality to “all-data-in-real-time” mentality.” I would recommend any organization that wants to change their data paradigm to look at the InfoCepts data streamer as a key component in their toolbox.”
