

InfoCepts Report Factory

Fast track your reporting throughput and enhance end user support

Organizations often with one or more tools on their data platforms—need efficient models to convert business requirements into high-impact reports or dashboards that users love to use. When this needs to be done at scale, such as when migrating from one tool to another or to service multiple business units, customers face challenges with consistency, cost, best practices, and usability.

The InfoCepts Report Factory solution enables organizations to efficiently deliver context specific reports and insights at scale to their business teams and customers. We provide full-lifecycle report development and automation model to convert user requirements into useful products. Whether you need to build 100 reports or 1000, we have a repeatable approach that enables you to get information into the hands of your users or customers quickly, securely, and consistent with your quality standards.
